Kingston BBQ Display a Great Success!

If you missed the Kingston Barbecue on September 11, you missed a great event on our "new" village common! With games, firetrucks and music, the Kingston Fire Company and other organizations put on a great party! The KGA had a display showing Kingston's evolving open space.
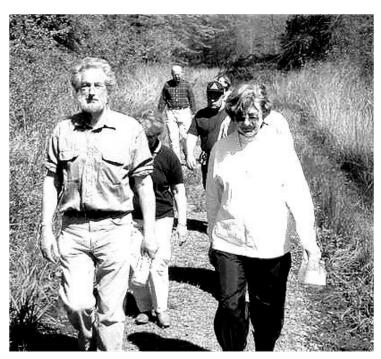

Thanks to Tari Panteleo, Karen Linder, Gene Lennon, Paul Murray and Doug Kiovsky and especially Karl Eisenmann for their help.

Saturday, October 2 at 9 AM: Come celebrate the East Coast Greenway Tour 2004

The KGA supports regional greenways, but the East Coast Greenway is the biggest! Less developed, and much less known than the Appalachian Trail, The ECG stretches from Maine to Florida. A sturdy group of bicyclists have already begun riding it, starting at the Canadian border. They will reach Kingston on the morning of Saturday, October 2. Please come down to the Kingston Lock Tender's House to cheer them on, and celebrate. The event should last less than an hour. (Their website is www.greenway.org)

Kingston Greenways Assn. FALL FOLIAGE WALK Sunday, October 24 at 2 PM

Join us for an easy walk around the Kingston greenbelt! Meet at the Kingston Locktender's House, in the Delaware and Raritan Canal State Park (Route 27 at the canal). We will be walking along our scenic and historic canal, so wear comfortable shoes, and maybe bring a camera or binoculars. The walk will last about 1 to 1.5 hours.

Birders Needed!

The Greenways Association participates in the Audubon Society Christmas Bird Count- no, they don't count birds on Christmas, but on a winter weekend before the holiday. Take a break from K-Mart and join Karen Linder and other Kingston birders in this scientific study. Good shoes required for this one!
